*Dimensions Folded

Modern laptop computers offer all the power and functionality of a desktop. However, the proximity of the keyboard to the screen forces postures which can cause wrist, back, neck and/or shoulder discomfort.

Our stands enable the user to raise the screen to a suitable height and attach a separate keyboard and mouse. This provides an environment similar to that offered by a desktop, minimising user pain and increasing productivity.

Portable versions fold almost flat for transportation. Other models are designed to be left in the workplace.
